The Rev. Chloe Breyer, Executive Director, The Interfaith Center of New York

Joining the Interfaith Center of New York in 2007 as Executive Director, Chloe has furthered ICNY's mission to bring together grassroots religious leaders with civic officials to address the city's most pressing concerns. An Episcopal Priest in the Diocese of New York, Chloe Breyer founded and directed the Cathedral Forums on Religion and Public Life at The Cathedral of St. John the Divine from 2000 to 2003. Following 9/11/2001, she worked on an interfaith initiative to rebuild a mosque in Afghanistan destroyed by U.S. bombs. Chloe is the author of The Close: A Young Woman's First Year at Seminary (Basic Books 2000) with chapter contributions to What Can One Person Do? Faith to Heal a Broken World (Church Publishing 2005) and Challenging the Christian Right From the Heart of the Gospel (Beacon Press 2006).
