The Interfaith Center of New York is thrilled to announce the 2021 James Parks Morton Honorees who we will celebrate virtually on June 21 during our online gala: Dr. Diana Eck, Professor of Comparative Religion and Indian Studies at Harvard University and founder of The Pluralism Project and Congresswoman Grace Meng representing the 6th District of New York (Northeast Queens) and Sponsor of the COVID-19 Hate Crimes Act. We look forward to honoring these two outstanding individuals in the spirit of ICNY's founder, the Very Rev. James Parks Morton and hope that we will see you online for the premiere at 7 pm on June 21st. Here is the link to register to watch the gala and how to support ICNY.

In this newsletter, you will also learn about our upcoming annual religious diversity programs for social workers, "Body and Soul: Sex and Spirituality in Diverse Religious Communities" online on July 14, 15, and 16. On the 14 and 16, we will focus specifically on the spiritual lives and struggles of LGBTQ Muslims and Orthodox Jews, by screening the award-winning documentaries A Jihad for Love and Trembling Before G-d, followed by commentary from a clinical social worker and conversations with the filmmakers.

In addition, religious leaders of all backgrounds are invited to join the Micah Faith Table on May 4th to help shape a racial and economic justice compact for the new administration in New York City. To learn more, contact JoelAGibson@gmail.com.

Be sure to scroll to the bottom of this newsletter so that you can see our Interfaith Matters blogs and podcast section, which this week includes the recording of the Manhattan District Attorney Candidates Forum "Voices from Underserved and Over-Policed Communities" along with a program on our immigrants' rights legal clinic with New York Law School and an interview with Council Member Danny Dromm about Resolution 1257 proposing religious diversity education in the New York Public Schools.

Sincerely,

Rev. Dr. Chloe Breyer
Executive Director

Professional Social Work Institute

The Interfaith Center of New York is recognized by the New York State Education Department's State Board for Social Work as an approved provider of continuing education for licensed social workers, #SW-0163.

For people of faith in all communities, sexual relationships and experiences are shaped, for both better and worse, by religious values and beliefs. In order to support the sexual health and emotional wellbeing of all New Yorkers, social service, mental health, and spiritual care professionals need to know what diverse religious traditions have to say about sex.

The June 15 conference will explore these issues in conversation with scholars, religious leaders, sex therapists, and sexual health educators. And on June 14 and 16, we will focus specifically on the spiritual lives and struggles of LGBTQ Muslims and Orthodox Jews, by screening the award-winning documentaries A Jihad for Love and Trembling Before G-d, followed by commentary from a clinical social worker and conversations with the filmmakers.
